

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of direct electioneering by a corporate media giant.

The US Government and the FCC need to stand by the Federal Election Laws and enforce them in an instance like this. Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest.

When large companies control the airwaves, we get more of partisanship and less of what we need for our democracy.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
